NSLHA encourages you to ask yourself the following questions to help apply some of the basic tenets of evidence-based practice to the material presented in sessions. Poster presenters are not required at this time to specifically address the questions in their session proposal; however, they should be prepared to field questions from the audience.

1. To what patient populations and under what circumstances might this be relevant?
2. How do you measure results or outcomes?
3. Do you acknowledge any drawbacks/limitation to what you are recommending?
4. Do you have any bias or conflicts of interest? Do you have anything to gain from this presentation?
5. Is scientific evidence provided to support what the presenter is saying?
